

California Sunset

The syrupy rays of the golden sun shower down
Caressing every surface with its honey colored fingers
Time slows its rigid progression
To bear witness to the glowing majesty
Palm trees sway to a steady beat
Dancing in the embrace of the summer breeze
The sand twinkles under the rise and fall of aqua waves
And a warm blanket of peace
Momentarily shields the world from concern